MONDAY, January 27 (White) St. John Chrysostom, Bishop & Doctor, III Class

Of incredible intellect, his powerful eloquence earned him the surname Chrysostom, meaning “golden mouth.” With St. Athanasius, Gregory Nazienzen, and Basil, he forms the group of the four great doctors of the Eastern Church. He died in 407.

12:15p Earl Manzano

TUESDAY, January 28 (White) St. Peter Nolasco, Confessor, III Class (St. Agnes)

Born of noble and wealthy parents in France, he was commissioned by our Lady to found the order of Our Lady of Mercy for the Ransom of Captives. When all the funds of the work were exhausted, the religious were bound by their rule to take the places of the prisoners with the infidels. He died in 1256.

6:00p Zach & Mary Moritz

WEDNESDAY, January 29 (White) St. Francis de Sales, Bishop & Doctor, III Class

Born in 1567, he would be sent Chablais in France where his preaching brought back sixty thousand Calvinists to the Catholic Faith. He founded the order of the Visitation and was known for his apostolic zeal and gentle holiness. FRIDAY, January 31 (White) St. John Bosco, Confessor, III Class

Born in 1815 and raised by a saintly mother, he would become a priest and, on account of his tremendous confidence in God, accomplish numerous works in spite of tremendous obstacles. Moved by compassion towards the young, especially of the poorer classes, he founded schools and orphanages and employed all his talents – and sense of humor – in the Christian formation of them. His charity, humility, and kindness were well-known. He died in 1888.

6:00a Warren Betz
12:15p Veronica Ramirez

SATURDAY, February 1 (Red) St. Ignatius of Antioch, Bishop & Martyr, III Class

One of the finest examples of a bishop in the early Church, he was condemned to the wild beasts and sent to Rome in chains. On his way there, he wrote magnificent letters to the churches, exhorting obedience to the Church, and in which his great love of Christ and ardent desire for martyrdom find expression: “I am the wheat of Christ; may I be ground by the fangs of wild beasts and become a bread with no impurity.” He died around 110.
