Sunday, Nov 1, White— All Saints Day, I Class

Today the Church celebrates all her saints, recalling the magnificent vision all the others “of all nations and tribes standing before the throne and in the sight of the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands,” proclaiming Him who redeemed them in His Blood. The Gospel of the Beatitudes, read today, while it recounts the happiness of the saints shows, too, the road that they followed; there is no other that will lead us whither they have gone.

St. Charles was one of the chief instruments of reformation of the Church in the 16th century. It was largely owing to his wisdom that the Council of Trent was happily concluded. Born in 1538 and made a Cardinal at the age of 21, he soon became archbishop of Milan. He held synods and councils, established colleges and communities, renewed the spirit of his clergy and of monasteries, and founded diocesan seminaries, the rules of which were adopted everywhere. He died in 1584 and was canonized in 1610.
