His sermons dealt especially with peace-making and concord, for which he was favored by the Holy Spirit with the gift of reconciling disputes.

Thursday, June 13 - St. Anthony of Padua, Confessor & Doctor, III Class, White

Born in Lisbon, Portugal, in 1196, he eventually became a Franciscan and preached throughout Portugal and Italy. Both as a theologian and preacher he fought vigorously against heresy. His preaching was inspired by a love of God and of souls and had an extraordinary power of conviction; it was filled with the penetrating power of Sacred Scripture, so much so that Pope Gregory IX hailed him a “living repository of Sacred Scripture.” He died in Padua in 1231 with a reputation of great sanctity.
